

- a. mkdir - mkdir is used for creating a single directory or multiple directories.
- b. touch - touch is used for creating files.
- c. rm - rm removes files
- d. rmdir - remove an empty directory.
- e. mv - mv moves and renames directories
- f. cp - cp copies files/directories from a source to a destination.
- h. man - man (manual) pages are documentation files that describe Linux shell commands, executable programs, system calls, special files and so forth.